ENGLISH EDITION - REORDERED LOCATION ATLAS (V6)

Data baseline: NoxzusRed/emeraldalternative, source revision 65859510e6ed. The mapping changes in this edition are editorial only; no repository or game files were modified.

Accessibility may depend on badges, story flags, special tickets, time and other in-game conditions. The guide describes configured acquisition methods, not exhaustive gameplay verification.

1. Scope, methods and how to read this guide

The principal source for random wild encounters is src/data/wild_encounters.json. Each location lists Pokémon and levels for the encounter methods present in the source tables. Levels are ranges across recorded encounter slots, not percentages. Fishing rods are listed individually.

METHOD	DATA SOURCE / MEANING
Land	Wild Pokémon encountered by walking through grass, caves and other land-encounter tiles.
Surf / Water	Encounters while surfing or underwater, depending on the map; defined by water_mons.
Rock Smash	Encounters triggered by smashing eligible rocks.
Old Rod	Fishing slots 0-1 in fishing_mons.
Good Rod	Fishing slots 2-4 in fishing_mons.
Super Rod	Fishing slots 5-9 in fishing_mons.

Special encounters: Visible Pokémon that start scripted battles are documented as overworld or event encounters. Stationary legendary battles and Latias/Latios roamers are listed separately.

Alternative map records: Only the first Altering Cave encounter configuration is included, labeled simply Altering Cave. Redundant and unused map records have been omitted from both the atlas and the species index.

Consolidation: Where multiple maps are combined, the table lists the union of their eligible Pokémon and their full recorded level ranges. Underwater Route 124 - Cave is listed with dungeons.

Access and forms: An encounter being configured does not guarantee immediate access. Forms such as White-Striped Basculin, Hisuian Qwilfish, Hisuian Zorua, Burmy cloaks and Flabébé colors are retained.

2. Wild encounters by location

This consolidated atlas contains 102 location tables, based on the original 136 nonempty encounter configurations. Entries are organized into towns and cities, routes alongside their underwater versions, then dungeons and other locations. The six methods appear wherever their corresponding encounter data is present.

4. Full regional Pokédex: how to obtain all 324 Pokémon

Entries 001-324 follow the Hoenn order from the repository. Capture locations are consistent with the grouped atlas above. All documented direct methods are listed, including overworld/event battles, roaming, gift Pokémon and Eggs, fossil restoration and NPC trades.

Listing rule: Evolution is shown only where no other acquisition method is documented. Other methods take precedence. Removed alternate encounters are excluded from this index as well.

5. Verification coverage and limitations

This guide covers all 324 regional entries and presents 102 consolidated encounter-location tables. The underlying wild encounters were extracted from the V3 guide based on the repository; the specified maps were merged, omitted or reordered as requested. The Pokédex location index was updated consistently so excluded or renamed maps are not cited.

Static legendary events, tickets, roaming and story flags may restrict when the corresponding encounters can be activated. This is a code-derived guide, not an exhaustive in-game progression test.

6. Sources and traceability

The linked repository references are retained from the English V3 guide. They document the regional index, encounter tables, gifts, special battles, NPC trades, and roaming behavior.
